Ron and I didn't get to enjoy spending as much time with Carol as we would have liked due to health issues with her and with us. As much as we adored Carol our health robbed us from making even more good memories. Although that didn't keep us from loving her as much as ever. She was very genuine about the love she had for her many, many friends and she is missed by so many. We'll always carry a piece of Carol in our heart.
