She lived a long and productive life. Her involvement with family, Church, and community was a lifelong endeavor. She raised two children, Mike (wife Carol) and a daughter Becky (deceased). She had four grandchildren, thirteen great grandchildren, and two great, great grandchildren.

She was involved in her Church at all levels. She taught Sunday School for many years and was song and choir Director at First Bible Church where she was a charter member in 1963. Her advice and council were sought out regularly.
